

Petition to the Australian Federal Government

To the Honourable Members of the Australian Federal Government,

We, the undersigned, respectfully petition the Australian Government to formally recognise the term 'Upsidaisium' as a symbolic designation for any future scientific discovery or material that enables levitation, anti-gravity, or significant gravitational manipulation.

The term 'Upsidaisium' originates from cultural satire and storytelling, yet represents a hopeful vision for innovation in physics and materials science. Recognising it officially would not only honour creativity in science communication but also set the stage for public engagement with advanced technologies.

We believe this symbolic step would encourage curiosity, inspire educational initiatives, and celebrate the whimsical pursuit of discovery.

Respectfully submitted on behalf of the undersigned citizens of Australia.
